STAGE FRONT
AUDIO VISUAL | LOW VOLTAGE

For 20 years, the Georgia Chapter of the Association for Learning Environments (GA4LE) has brought together the people who plan, design, build, operate, and lead Georgia's educational environments. As we celebrate that history, we are looking ahead and raising the bar for the conversations we want to have.

We're not looking for more sessions. We're looking for the right sessions.
We invite compelling, highly relevant educational proposals that address the real issues facing Georgia's school systems and the professionals who serve them. Strong sessions move beyond showcasing a project to share candid lessons, practical strategies, meaningful outcomes, and ideas attendees can use.

WHAT WE'RE LOOKING FOR

The strongest proposals will help attendees learn something, solve something, rethink something, or do something better.

- Address real challenges in educational facility planning, funding, design, construction, operations, and leadership.
- Include school district or Owner perspectives, especially in joint presentations grounded in actual experience.
- Go beyond the finished project: explain decisions, obstacles, tradeoffs, outcomes, and lessons learned.
- Explore emerging needs such as safety, sustainability, technology, workforce development, and changing educational models.
- Offer insights useful to districts of varying sizes, including smaller and rural Georgia communities.
- Engage the audience through discussion, multiple viewpoints, practical problem-solving, or thoughtful interaction.

A MORE INTENTIONAL EDUCATION PROGRAM

The 2027 agenda is being designed to create more room for learning, dialogue, and connection, including Facilities 101, Conversation Corners, the Reverse Trade Show, and other conference experiences. GA4LE will therefore select a limited number of educational sessions. Selection will emphasize content quality, relevance, speaker expertise, actionable learning, and fit within the overall program.

A great project alone does not make a great conference session. Tell us what others can learn from it.

SUBMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Please include the following in your proposal:

- Proposed session title.
- Presentation summary (one to two paragraphs), including relevance to GA4LE attendees.
- Proposed speakers, affiliations, and brief qualifications.
- Four specific learning objectives for continuing education review.
- Key takeaway: what attendees will know, understand, or be prepared to do differently afterward.
- School system/Owner participation, if applicable, including confirmed versus proposed participants.
- Proposed format and how you will engage the audience.

HOW PROPOSALS WILL BE REVIEWED

GA4LE will prioritize educational merit, practical value, relevance to Georgia school systems, meaningful Owner involvement, quality of presenters, and opportunities for audience engagement. Submission does not guarantee selection. Selected sessions may be asked to refine their format, speakers, or content to support the overall conference agenda.

EDUCATION FIRST. NO SALES PRESENTATIONS.

GA4LE values the expertise of its industry partners. However, product demonstrations, company promotions, and sales-oriented sessions will not be considered. Share your research, experience, hard-earned lessons, and innovative thinking, not a sales pitch.

Teach us something. Challenge us. Start a conversation worth continuing.
